TOP SECRET

25X1A SECURITY INFORMATION

[redacted]

16 October 1952

1. Herewith is the latest revision of this plan, which I would appreciate your reviewing and bringing with you to a meeting in this office at 1000, Thursday, 23 October.

2. Will you also be prepared to make your recommendations as to the next procedural step—I should think it would be to adapt broad themes to the tasks, a step which we initiated once before but recognized it to be out of sequence.

3. Herewith is some other food for thought which might properly be discussed at our meeting:

b. Do we stress enough, or could it be covered through strong themes, the following concept:

(1) Incite fear of the future by discrediting the capabilities of each of Stalin's prospective successors. Create th the impression that no matter who goes into power conditions are going to be worse.

(2) Development of nationalistic tendencies of satellite countries; e.g., publicity to national heroes and national holidays; publicity with respect to the happier aspects of the Tito break with Moscow.
